Description

This two story level house sits perfectly in the middle of a self-contained property. Within the compounds' entrance there is space for 2 vehicles along with spacious set-backs filled with tropical greenery. In the back yard you will find your own tropical sanctuary with a private pool and luminous deck and lounge area under flourishing palm trees and clean lines. The light cyan reflections off the heated pool give a Mediterranean feel. The pool is made with Chukum, an ancient Mayan stucco technique for contemporary buildings, blending modern architecture with Mexican history and culture. Once inside this fully air-conditioned home, you can peer out onto your tropical garden through large sliding glass doors, which in addition to the views will allow natural air and light
